About xdeck

xdeck is Germany's first early-stage venture platform, built by founders for founders. Launched in 2019 by Cologne-based entrepreneur Dr. Oliver Steinki, the accelerator program was designed to systematically pass on entrepreneurial experience, industry expertise, and networks to the next generation of startup founders. The independent platform is led by a 7-person team passionate about supporting startups through hands-on mentorship and strategic partnerships.

xdeck focuses on early-stage B2B tech startups, specializing in software-based process automation, artificial intelligence, and sustainability technology. A strong partner network—including top-tier companies, experienced founders, mentors, and industry experts—provides startups with tailored support throughout the program. To date, xdeck has supported more than 82 startups and operates entirely through private funding. In 2021, the platform expanded with the launch of the venture capital fund xdeck ventures. The company is headquartered at SHIP in Cologne, one of Germany's most digitally advanced office buildings.
